Roosevelt Claims 'I Paid My Share'—Elliott Roosevelt (1) informs Sen. Homer Ferguson (3) that "I paid my own fair share" of expenses during his entertainment while investigating possibilities of the Howard Hughes' photo reconnaissance plane. The late President's son related that he feared a "smear" campaign against his father's memory. The former Army Air Forces officer told members of the Senate War Contracts Investigating Committee that he borrowed money from John Meyer (2), press agent for Howard Hughes . . . but insisted that he paid it back. GOP Picking On FR's Son, Says Elliott

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt contended today that Republican senators, investigating entertaining by war contractors, have directed their inquiry at him because he is "the son of the President" and passed over gifts by contractors to other Army officers. Roosevelt made that statement in a sharp tiff with Chairman Ferguson (R.) of Michigan of a Senate war investigating subcommittee as he testified before the group for the second straight day.

It is very peculiar, Roosevelt told the committee, that he had been "singled out for the first blare of publicity" when he knew that the committee had collected a vast amount of evidence about gifts by war contractors to other Army officers.

The committee is investigating the wartime award of some $40,000,000 in airplane contracts to Howard Hughes, Pacific Coast airplane designer and movie producer.

Company records showed John W. Meyer, publicity man for Hughes, had reported spending over $5000 during war years on entertainment of young Roosevelt and his friends.

Roosevelt has denied that many of the listed items were spent in his behalf and said he was at fighting fronts at the time some of the expenditures were made. He acknowledged, however, that he had attended parties with Meyer.

KFC FOUGHT PROMOTION

Roosevelt told the Senators his promotion during the war was recommended "against my wishes."

"I demanded of Gen. Spaatz, Doolittle and Eisenhower that it should not be sent through. It was sent through when I was out of the theater and against my wishes."

Roosevelt entered the Army as a captain and rose to brigadier general.

He said, too that Gen. George C. Marshall, wartime Army chief of staff, twice vetoed his nomination to brigadier general because Marshall felt it would be embarrassing to President Roosevelt.

The nomination, Roosevelt said, was originated by his commanding officer, Gen. Carl Spaatz, and approved by Gens. James Doolittle and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Roosevelt said a member of Marshalls' staff told him the nomination was twice turned down "for the following reasons:

"It was very unusual for a man to have as rapid a rise in rank as myself, and in view of the fact that I was the son of the President, he felt it would be embarrassing to the President to forward it to the Senate, where it would become a matter of political debate."

Roosevelt demanded the right to obtain affidavits from Doolittle, Spaatz and Eisenhower "to show whether they were in any way influenced by the fact that I was the President's son," in recommending his Army promotion.

Chairman Ferguson (R.) of the Senate Subcommittee retorted:

"I have never questioned your status in the Army but I have questioned some of the entries in these (Hughes') books."

Roosevelt said his nomination to brigadier general, finally recommended a third time and eventually approved by the Senate, was "sent through when I was out of the theater and against my wishes." He entered the Army as a captain and rose to brigadier general.

Shortly after the exchange, Ferguson threatened to clear the hearing room of spectators as Roosevelt drew a sharp burst of applause when he said:

"Because of the relationship and the affection I bore my father, I will fight to the death to protect his name."

Roosevelt asked why the committee had not begun its hearings "with Senate document number 75" which he said lists "deals with millions and millions of dollars of war contracts and gifts to other Army officers that include automobiles."

PLEDGES FAIRNESS

Ferguson said he did not know what documents Roosevelt was talking about and added:

"The committe is going to deal just as fairly with you as you deal with the committee."

Roosevelt commented that the committee usually interviewed all witnesses in a closed session before public hearings but "you never even bothered to interview me."

As for Document No. 75, Roosevelt declared it is one filed by the general accounting office with the committee on July 20, 1946.

Brewster and Ferguson said they did not know what it was.

Ferguson said the only instance

4 Jewish Mayors Seized In Dawn Palestine Raids

JERUSALEM, Aug. 5 (AP)—The British arrested the mayors of four Jewish towns, Tel Aviv, Ramat Gan, Natanya and Petah Tiqua (Tivkah) and jailed dozens of other Jewish political leaders in dawn raids described officially as "part of the campaign against terrorism." But violence continued.

A Labor Department building in the Street of the Prophets was blasted by a bomb which killed a British policeman trying to remove the explosive. Two others were trapped in the debris.

FIVE BRITONS MISSING

British troops investigated an Arab report that six armed Jews had taken a Briton into an orange grove in the Tel Aviv area. Another unconfirmed report asserted five British soldiers and their army vehicle were missing in the same area.

The arrests came after two weeks of Jewish underground violence in Palestine druing which two British army sergeants were hanged near Natanya.

Among those arrested were most members of the Tel Aviv municipal council and many leaders of the Revisionist Party—accused by the Palestine government last year of being the forerunner of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish extremist organization.

ESCAPE ARREST

A government spokesman, who said the arrests were made under defense emergency regulations, declared approximately 60 persons had been marked down for detention, but that "some may have gotten wind of it and taken cover."

The arrested mayors are Israel Rokach of Tel Aviv, Abram Krinitzi of Ramat Gan, Oved Ben Ami of Natanya and the mayor of Petah Tikvah.

Among those reported arrested and believed taken directly to the Latroun detention camp was Max Kritzman, an American Jew who has been defense counsel for a number of admitted members of the underground who have been tried recently.

Kritzman, who has been arrested twice before by the British, defended Nov Bela Gruner, underground member who was hanged last April in a celebrated case which was appealed to the Privy Council in London.

Anti-Semitic Riots Hit England Cities Again

LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP)—A Jew-baiting crowd of 700 persons damaged eight Jewish-owned shops in Manchester last night and early today as anti-Semitic incidents flared for the fourth successive day in widely scattered British cities—including London, Birmingham and Liverpool.

Police arrested 38 demonstrators in Liverpool, where street lights were turned on during the night for the first time since power-saving blackout restrictions were ordered last winter.

Several Liverpool police were injured battling the demonstrators as firemen stood by [illegible] douse the rioters with [illegible] case the situation got beyond police control.

Although some quarters expressed belief that the riots were incited by "Fascist-like" organizations, police said they thought the vandalism was the work of irresponsible youths rather than an organized campaign of anti-Semitism.

Meyer Denies Paternity Charge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (INS)—Johnny Meyer, publicity man for Howard Hughes, denied today charges by Patricia Miles, New York cigaret girl, that he is the father of her child.

The publicist said:

"Just another tomato trying to get her name in the papers.

"This is absolutely the first I've heard about this one.

"Never took her out in my life. Hell, she worked till 5 a. m.

"Do you think maybe the Brewster committee could be trying to frame me?"

15 TUNIS STRIKERS KILLED

TUNIS, Tunisia, Aug. 5 (AP)—Fifteen striking laborers were killed and about 40 wounded including six soldiers in a riot near Sfax following an attack on an army motorized column, the French News Agency reported today. All laborers in Tunisia, were called out on a general strike yesterday.

Uncle Grudge Slayer Of Fall River Girl, 8

FALL RIVER, Aug. 5—The battered body of 8-year-old Theresa LaFleur, missing since yesterday, was found today in the rear of a freight yard near the city center. Police said the child was the victim of a vicious grudge slaying and that her uncle, Charles J. McGarty, 25, a Concord parolee, had confessed he killed her.

Police Capt. Howell W. Palmer said McGarty, after hours of questioning, led authorities to the spot where the child's body was found covered with brush. Palmer said McGarty admitted he mutilated the body after death to disguise the murder as a sex crime.

McGarty, in a confession released by Capt. Palmer, said:

"I had an awful job killing her. I pushed her in the face and blocked out her eyes with my fingers. Then I strangled her with my hands. I felt her heart to see if it was still beating. Then, to thro wpolice off my track, I tried to make it look like a sex murder. It wasn't. I killed her because of a grudge against her father."

Theresa is the second oldest of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Leo LaFleur of Quarry st. Her body was found on her father's birthday.

TROUBLE WITH FAMILY

McGarty did not amplify the "grudge" he held against his niece's father, but police said he told of having "lots of trouble" with him.

In the confession police said he made, McCarthy revealed he had not planned until the last minute which of the six LaFleur children to kill.

"I planned to kill someone of the children, but wasn't sure which one," he confessed, according to police. "Finally, I decided to kill the girl instead of the boy because I did not want to kill a boy.

"At 6:45 last night I went to Theresa's home on Quarry st. I said to her brother Bobby, 6, Get Theresa, I want to see her.' He got his sister. I took her to a variety store on the corner. I bought her a lollypop. We walked up along the railroad tracks. I told her I would take her swimming. We walked the tracks almost a half a mile.

"Off Rodman st., I took her into the wooded quarry section in back of the municipal incinerator. Then I killed her."

DRANK BEFORE CRIME

McGtrty said that before the killing he went to a Pleasant st. cafe and with three other fellows drank a quart of wine. After the crime, he added, according to his police confession, he walked downtown to another cafe, where he continued to drink. While on his way to his County st. home, he said, "as accidents would happen I bumped into her father."

"'Where is Theresa?' Bobby said you took her with you?' he asked me. I told him I had left her at the corner of Fourth and Pleasant sts., where I had given her a quarter and told her to go up to her uncle Henry's house, in Wade st. He kept asking me questions so I went along to his home with him."

McGarty was taken into custody at the LaFleur home when the girl's suspicious parents finally called police. He maintained his story of innocence for several hours, but finally admitted he killed her and rode to the scene with police officers.

Held on suspicin of murder, McGarty will be arraigned on a formal charge of murder in Second District Court tomorrow, police said.

Baby Without Esophagus Is Rushed Here

Racing against death in a 100-mile dash from Willimantic, Ct., a 2-day-old baby boy who doctors said was born without an esophagus was brought today to the Children's Hospital in Boston, where preparations were being made for an immediate operation to save the baby's life.

At the hospital it was said Dr. Ovarr Swenson, famed esophagus specialist, would perform the delicate operation.

The baby was born early Sunday to Mrs. Jean Fogg, 23, of Willimantic, at the Winham Memorial Hospital there. Dr. Rubin Rothblatt, attending physician, recognized the child's condition and immediately contacted Dr. Swenson and made arrangements for the trip over the road to the Children's Hospital.

Dr. Rothblatt, driving his own car, made the 100-mile dash in the record time of 1¾ hours under State Police clearance all the way to Boston.

The child's father, Lawrence Fogg, 23, held the child in a battery-equipped incubator while en route, with Mrs. Shirley Bellin, nurse of the Willimantic Hospital, operating the incubator. Also accompanying them was Miss Phyllis Belair, an aunt of the baby.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH HARDY, OF KITTERY, ME.
Continue to Recite Tales of Their Crimes

'Love Trap' Slaying Pair Seek Loophole

While California authorities moved for a September trial and sought a gas chamber execution for Joseph L. Hardy, Jr., 24, and his bride, Lois, 22, police revealed today further details of the New England couple's life of crime.

The newlyweds passed their sixth day of married life in separate cells at the Las Vegas, Nev., jail, still defiant following their surprising confession to the killing of a vacationist who befriended them as they hitch-hiked a ride in California last Wednesday.

Living up to their reputation as "the hardest boiled characters ever jailed in Las Vegas," the honeymooners laughed off questions about other slayings they hinted at in confessions to a nationwide tour financed by a series of crimes.

Instead they were concentrating on "beating the rap" in the death of James W. McLain, 48, of Burbank, Cal., in a "love trap" they allegedly rigged on a lonely road in Hirschdale, Cal.

Hardy, interviewed by reporters as he sat with his blonde wife in his lap, declared the gun he used to kill McLain was thrown into a lake "where they will never find it."

He boasted that without the gun "they have only circumstantial evidence against me" and offered to plead guilty to any lesser charge than murder in the first degree, which calls for the gas chamber.

He admitted that both he and Lois were expecting her to be released shortly "because they've got nothing to hold her for."

GIRL HUGGED VICTIM

Police charge the pair admitted that Lois held McLain in a tight embrace and turned his head against her body so he would not see Hardy fire a shot into his head at close range.

Locally, police were piecing together the activities of Hardy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Hardy of Manson rd., North Kittery, Me., and his bride, a native of New London, Ct.

His parents were traced by police through a letter he mailed his mother from the Las Vegas jail telling of his "vacation." Her family has not been identified, as the girl, the former Lois Hunt, told Nevada police she "could not face them."

Hardy's father, an employe of a local shoe store, expressed no emotion on learning of his son's trouble. "We are not surprised in the least to hear about this murder," he commented. Mrs. Hardy, however, was reported upset. It was to her that young Hardy sent three post cards during his tour with Lois across the nation.

STOLE PARENTS' CASH

Police Chief John Smart of Kittery disclosed that the youth once stole several hundred dollars from his parents and for this was sent to the county jail in Alfred, Me. He escaped and is still being sought on the jail break charge, the chief said.

In addition to being a jail breaker, young Hardy was depicted as a bigamist, Army deserter, thief and youthful problem child.

He married Miss Virginia Baptiste, a WAC, in September, 1945. The ceremony at Camp Croft, S. C., was at 8 p. m. and the following day he deserted his first wife. His parents said they have never been informed of any divorce action. The girl is still in the WAC and stationed at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C.

Deputy Sheriff Harold P. Grace of Kittery said he asked the court several years ago to jail young

11th Hour Labor Law Pact Halts Ford Motor Strike

DETROIT, Aug. 5 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers, in an agreement averting their Ford Motor Co. strike scheduled for to day, were given a year's grace from strike damage suits under the Taft-Hartley labor law. This the company agreed to in an 11th hour pact which served to keep 107,000 production workers on the job as a nationwide walkout, set for noon, was called off.

The agreement protects the union for a period of a year from the date a new contract is signed.

Ford and the UAW agreed to spend at least a year if necessary in order to secure a mutually satisfactory understanding of union and company privileges.

A joint company-union statement was made public at 4:30 a. m., less than eight hours ahead of the strike deadline.

The UAW-CIO was given the "right to strike" on the issue if no solution were forthcoming after "a year of deliberation and negotiations."

The year's grace to the union from damage suit liability under the new law will be dated from the date of the FORD-UAW contract still to be drawn.

Negotiations on other contract issues, including the reported $20,000,000-a-year workers' pension plan, will resume Thursday, both company and union officials confident the remaining issues could be solved.

The Taft-Hartley law permits an employer to sue a union for damages in event of a violation of its contract with management. This the UAW has sought to avoid by private contract.

Calling the agreement over the Taft-Hartley dispute a "compromise," the joint statement said a four-man committee—two from the union, two from the company—will "work out a solution to the question of the liability of the union, its officers and members, fro damages by suit for breach of contract."

If the committee is unable to arrive at an agreement within three months from the "date of contract," it will choose a fifth member and "continue its efforts for an additional three-months period if necessary."

If it takes still longer the committee may continue on a majority vote of its five members. The fifth member shall be the umpire under vote of its five members. The member shall be the umpire under the Ford-UAW contract if the committee has been unable to agree on another party.

Any committee solution must be unanimous. It will be binding upon both company and union.

Returns Fortune in Jewels

For three hours today Leo Sandler, 37, cab driver, of Blue Hill ave., Dorchester, drove about Boston's streets blissfully unaware he was carting more than $10,000 worth of jewelry.

Leo completed a routine night of work at daybreak and got quite a start when a leather vanity case he found in the rear seat revealed a couple of fistfuls of diamond rings, bracelets and necklaces.

He recalled that the only passenger who had baggage during the night was a woman he picked up from the airport bus at the Statler and took to the Hotel Bellevue.

The Bellevue clerk informed him that Mrs. Charles D. Matthews of Sikeston, Mo., had reported to the hotel that her gems were missing. Down came Mrs. Matthews from her room to identify the jewels and pass out a $10 reward.

New Curley Plea Suggests Added Fine

Mayor James M. Curley would accept an additional fine in lieu of serving the balance of his six to eighteen months' prison term, it was disclosed today following the return from Washington of Atty. Walter I. Sundlun, who filed a motion in U. S. District Court there for correction or reduction of sentence.

Sundlun is the new counsel for the mayor retained by the Curley family and the Massachusetts Citizens' Committee. The mayor's release is sought on the grounds of ill health and an implied error on the part of the judge who sentenced him. Sundlun argued:

"No good can come from further punishment and the ends of justice will be met even if the court will impose an additional fine instead of the present prison sentence.

"The whole purpose of my motion is to point out the great question whether or not Mr. Curley, under existing facts and happenings in this case, should have been denied his liberty."

Sundlun said he hoped the court would take action on the motion by Aug. 17, stating that under the law the court has only 60 days to reduce or correct the sentence.

Attaches of the U. S. District Court in Washington doubted, however, whether a hearing would be held on the motions before October, when Judge James M. Proctor, who sentenced Curley, returns to the bench after the summer recess.

Atty. Sundlun also disclosed that the illness of the mayor's son George, who is recovering from pneumonia complications in Cohasset Hospital, had been cited as having serious effect on the mayor's health.

Dentists Welcomed By Hynes, Governor

Delegates to the joint convention of the American Dental Ass'n and the International Dental Congress were officially welcomed to Boston and Massachusetts today by Temporary Mayor John B. Tynes and Gov. Bradford.

The second day of the five-day session at Hotel Statler and Mechanics Building opened with a civic breakfast for offisers and delegates sponsored by Mayor Hynes at which the temporary executive informally welcomed Dr. Sterling V. Mead, of Washington, D. C., president of the association.

Official welcoming addresses by the Mayor and Governor came later in the morning at the regular convention session in the Statler's Imperial ballroom.

Principal speaker at the day's session was Dr. A. E. Rowlett of Leicester, England, president of the International Dental Congress, halding its 10th meeting and first since 1936.

Dr. Rowlett declared the congress was one of the few, "if not the only international organization except the Red Cross which has stood firm and unshaken against the shock of two world wars."

He said the orgtnization's creative and self-sacrificial instncts, the most powerful forces that guide humanity, were responsible for its ability to withstand the impact of war. He expressed hope these factors would enable the congress to be of service in helping create a lasting peace.

During the session the George Villain prize, awarded each five years for outstanding contributions in orthodontics and prosthodontics, was presented to Dr. Allen G. Brodie, dean of the University of Illinois Dental School.

The presentation was made by Dr. Henri Vallain of Paris, brother of the dentist for whom the prize was named. Dr. Georges Villain was a former president of the congress.

Also presented at today's session was the Miller medal, named for the late Prof. W. D. Miller of the Berlin Dental School. A posthumous award of the same medal was made in honor of Dr. William H. G. Logan of Illinois, a former president of the congress.

Catholic Mirror Raps Springfield Racial Plan

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 5—The so-called Springfield plan to teach inter-racial tolerance in schools was attacked today by the Catholice Mirror, weekly diocesan publication, as "a complete farce and a failure." The unsigned article said Springfield teachers "would not know the plan if they were to meet it face to face. It has never been explained to them."

Charging the plan is based on deceit and bigotry, the article added that informed observers who know "how the trick is worked enjoy seeing the yokels taken in."

Brazilians Fete Plane Stowaway, Fight Deportation

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 5 (INS)—Francisco Carvalho, "the poor man's Lindbergh" who spanned the South Atlantic as a stowaway in a Dutch airliner's landing-gear compartment, went on a hunger strike today.

The 27-year-old Portuguese, who preferred the hazards of "riding the rods" thousands of feet in the sky to returning to his bride of three months, decided on the hunger strike after Brazilian authorities announced he faced deportation for illegal entry to the country.

Carvalho, who had gone 32 hours without eating while huddled in the landing gear of the huge four-motored K. L. M. transport, wolfed down food at Natal airport following his discovery.

But he pushed back juicy steaks which the Natal citizenry offered him when informed that his means of beating the immigration quota was not accepted by Brazil.

Mournfully—and a little defiantly—he remarked:

"I am afraid of airplanes, but I wanted to come to the Americas, and now I refuse to return to Portugal."

A citizen's committee headed by Sen. Georgino Avelino, from the state of Rio Grande Do Norte deluged President Gaspar Dutra and Air Minister Armano Tromposki with telegrams demanding honorary citizenship for Carvalho.

A large part of Natal's 40,000 population gathered in front of the Grande Hotel to welcome their newly-found hero.

The rather-bewildered Portuguese newlywed was called to the balcony by the enthusiastic crowd, which also protested en masse the federal deportation order.

Air Stowaway Tells of Trip on Landing Gear

By FRANCISCO CARVALHO
(As told to International News Service)

NATAL, Brazil, Aug. 5 (INS)—Before climbing into the landing-gear compartment of the huge Dutch transport in Lisbon, I had never before even been near an airplane.

I still don't know what the inside of one looks like.

I had been working at many jobs in Lisbon, and decided to go to Brazil. I knew the biggest airplanes went there, but I did not have any money.

So I went to the Lisbon airport at 4 o'clock Sunday morning and saw the Dutch airliner waiting to take off.

Getting past the police guard, I found the only entrance available above the landing gear and I climbed aboard, but was forced to wait six hours berore the plane left Lisbon.

I had a small package of sandwiches and a bottle of water, but the sandwiches fell out somewhere over Africa, so I passed the entire trip without food.

The landing at Dakar, Africa, was the worst because I nearly fell out when the pilot dropped the wheels.

After that my problem was to keep awake. Crossing the Atlantic, I was afraid to look at the ocean because it is too big and I was too sleepy. I burned my left ear with a cigarette to keep awake and not fall out.

I hope to remain in Brazil, and would have continued to Rio but when the plane landed at Natal I was too tired to hold on longer

I am confiednt that God, and President Dutra, will keep me in the Americas.

Deary quoted the man as admitting a quarrel and that Mrs. Phillips pointed a pistol at him. He said he seized her arm and the weapon was accidentally discharged.

MAN VS. DOG

PUEBLO, Col., Aug. 5 (AP)—A 135-pound Pueblan wants no further part of his 65-pound dog.

The owner, Edgar Waites, 38, called police last night to come and get him and the dog.

Waites had whacked the dog with a newspaper. The animal taking exception dragged him all over the living room and bit him several times.

Police took Waites to a clinic for treatment. The dog catcher took the dog to the pound.

DENTISTS GIVE THEM A "GREEN LIGHT"—Bubble gum is helpful rather than harmful, according to dentists at their annual convention in Boston. So youngsters from this area including (l. to r.), Ronald Noviello, Robert Charles, Michael Indrasano, Mary Scappichio, Florence Romano and Natalie Nuzzo, all from the North End, begin their daily exercise by blowing immense bubbles for the sake of their teeth and the amazement of their elders. Blamed Gas Fumes For Overell Deaths

By JAMES PADGITT

SANTA ANA, Aug. 5 (INS)—George "Bud" Gollum, on trial with Beulah Louise Overell for the slaying of the girl's parents, was quoted in testimony on record today as blaming exploding gas fumes for the deaths of wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell.

The Overells perished last March 15 aboard their yacht Mary E. which exploded. The State contends the Overells were bludgeoned to death by Gollum, 21, and his 18-year-old fiance, Beulah Louise, who then allegedly planted a dynamite time charge that destroyed the yacht.

The testimony quoting Gollum's purported version of the deaths was given yesterday by Sheriff James Musick of Orange County who testified:

"Bud told me, 'when Loube and I left the boat at 11 o'clock (to row ashore to get sandwiches) I noticed a strong odor of gasoline. Maybe Mrs. Overell was making coffee and lit the stove and ignited the gas fumes which exploded."

In Los Angeles, meanwhile, a final accounting in superior court showed Overell carried eight life insurance policies with a total value of $131,881. This, in addition to the Overell estate appraised last week, left Beulah Louise as sole heir to $568,735.

Musick said the sweethearts spent the night alone in the girl's home a few hours after her parents had been killed.

"Bud said they reached the Overell mansion at Flintridge about 3:30 a. m. (The Overell yacht was dynamited around midnight), but told me he insisted that Beulah Louise take a hot bath.

"He said he sat by the bed and held her hand all night. They were all alone in the house."

The sheriff said Bud told him the young couple was to be married April 30, the day of Beulah's 18th birthday. Musick testified Bud said:

"We are going to get married April 30. We have the consent of Beulah's parents. They told her, 'You certainly are lucky to get such a splendid man as George Gollum for a husband.'"

Musick said, the couple expected to live in a trailer and attend school and live on GI money.

Muisk said his conversation with Miss Overell were to the effect that "all she talked about was what a wonderful man Gollum was."

Earlier the state brought two college classmates of Bud's to the stand to testify that Beulah Louise's parents threatened to cut her off without a penny if she married Gollum.

MODERN METHOD

SEATTLE, Aug. 5 (AP)—Now they're flying frozen food to Alaska.

A northern airlines plane left Boeing Field for Fairbanks with a cargo which included 1500 pounds of frozen fruits and vegetables—first batch of frozen foodstuffs ever flown to the territory. A special aerial cold-packing technique is being used.

Wife Refuses To Testify, Delay Freed

Mrs. Margaret L. Delay, stating through counsel she was still in love with her husband, refused to testify against him today and asked Judge Gardiner W. Russell in East Cambridge District Court to find John L. Delay not guilty of the assault and battery charge she had lodged against him two weeks ago.

The court, however, dismissed the case, stating it could not enter a not guilty verdict since neither the prosecution nor the defense offered any evidence. Delay, probation officer in the same court for 18 years and former State commander of the American Legion, was released Saturday from the Metropolitan State Hospital in Watertown as sane.

When the case was called Atty. Hyman Katz, counsel for Mrs. Delay, announced she had decided to exercise her constitutional right not to testify against her husband, that she was still in love with him and that she asked the court to find him not guilty.

The court then asked the intentions of the district attorney's office, represented by Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Keville.

Keville said:

"In view of the fact that the complaining witness now refuses to testify against her husband, the Commonwealth is without sufficient evidence on which to proceed. There is nothing left to do but agree with the suggestion of counsel for Mrs. Delay."

Atty. Frederick V. McMenimen, representing Delay along with City Councilor Michael J. Neville, argued his client was entitled to a finding of not guilty so that the case would be barred from reappearance in the courts. The court, however, ruled otherwise.

On dismissal of the case, Mrs. Delay several times approached her husband as though seeking a reconciliation but he turned away and said only "not here."

Just before his arraignment on the assault and battery charge July 23, Delay tendered his resignation as probation officer. At the same time, he asked retirement at half pay. No action on the resignation has been announced.

The Delay residence is in Chiswick rd., Arlington.

BEAVERBROOK'S SON DIES

LONDON, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Hon. Peter Rudyard Aitken, 35, younger son of Lord Beaverbrook, London newspaper publisher, died of a heart attack yetserday in Stookholm, his father's office said today. Aitken was widely known as an automobile racer before the war.

in which he knew of any Army officer accepting a gift of an automobile resulted in the prompt dismissal of the officer from the service.

The question of his rapid rise in rank was brought up yesterday by Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine during the questioning of Roosevelt.

When he resumed the stand today the sone of President Roosevelt asked permission to clarify his understanding of it.

Roosevelt said he is sure "Sen. Brewster would not desire to have any statements in the record not cleared up and which might have political implications."

MARSHALL REJECTION

Brewster said that at the time Roosevelt's nomination to be a brigadier general was submitted to the Senate in Jan., 1945, "I was told by one of the members of the Senate" that Gen. George C. Marshall, then Army chief of staff, had told a committee he twice previously had sent back young Roosevelt's nomination.

Among other things, Elliott testified during his first session on the stand that:

1—He did not want to return to the United States in 1943 because if he came home to "sit the war out in the pentagon" it would give his father's enemies a great opportunity to smear him.

2—He does not believe he violated an air forces order relating to entertainment or gifts from persons interested in AAF contracts.

3—He paid his fair share of the bills for the parties he did attend with Meyer.

Chairman Ferguson (R.) of Mich., of the subcommittee conducting the hearings called both Roosevelt and Meyer back today with the announcement to newsmen that he wants to find out whether Elliott was in New York on Army orders the week-end of Aug. 20, 1943.

21 Fall River Mills Facing Strike Tieup

Nearly all of Fall River's 21 mills will be closed down by the end of the week and 14,000 textile workers will be thrown out of work if the strike of 1400 skilled workers is not speedily settled, a spokesman for the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Ass'n warned today.

The 1400 members of the loom fixers, knot tiers and slasher tenders independent unions walked out Friday, refusing to agree to a CIO contract covering the other mill workers. Already partly closed are the Richard Borden, Howard Arthur, Sagamore and Border City mills.

Other textile strikes broke out in Holyoke, where 100 workers at the D. Mackintosh and Sons plant stayed away from work when negotiations broke down, and at Manchester, N. H., where the Amoskeag-Lawrence mills were shut down by a walkout of 550 workers.

An Amoskeag-Lawrence Co. spokesman said he expects a walkout soon of workers in the Amoskeag and Amory mills and that his firm is making no effort to resume negotiations with the United Textile Workers of America—CIO.

A walkout of 1200 workers closed down the Plymouth Rubber Co. plant in Canton. Workers gathered at a mass meeting, and pickets were thrown around the plant.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School.

Q—Is it all right to plant beans where early beans were just cleaned out?

A—Yes. Would suggest a light application of complete fertilizer.

Q—Does green moss on the surface of the soil mean that the soil needs lime?

A—No. This is usually caused by wet weather and a lack of sunlight. More common in the shady parts of the garden.

Q—Some animal is digging holes in the lawn. How can we prevent this?

A—Probably a skunk which is going after the white grubs. This damage is usually not serious.

Q—A large green and yellow worm is feeding on our parsnips. Will arsenate kill them?

A—This worm is known as the celery or carrot worm. If only a few are present, it is better to hand pick them.

Q—Should side shoots of corn be cut off?

A—This practice is old fashioned. Does more harm than good. It is just a waste of labor.

Q—Are eggshells of value to garden soils, or the compost pile?

A—Eggshells contain some lime. One bushel is equivalent to about 1 pound of limestone. Hardly worth bothering with.

Q—The tips of our roses are covered with small green and black bugs. Will they harm the vine?

A—These insects are plant lice or aphids. They will do serious damage unless controlled. Spray with nicotine about once a week until they are cleaned up.

Q—How do strong spray solutions injure plants?

A—As spray materials are more or less caustic, care must be taken not to make them too strong. Spray solutions tend to draw the moisure from the plant and cause burning.

Q—Last year we saved some bean seed. Is it safe to use for a late crop?

A—If the plants were free from disease, I see no reason why this seed should not be used.

Q—Does it help house plants to wash leaves with soap and water?

A—Yes. Plants become dusty. As they breath through the leaves and under natural conditions are washed by rain, this washing will serve the same purpose.

Q—Our tomato plants are bushy and have very thick leaves. There are not many blossoms. What is the reason?

A—This sounds like variety trouble. There are several varieties such as Champion and Stone that have these characteristics. They mature late and are not too good for this area.

Hardy as a juvenile delinquent, but instead the boy was placed on probation.

Later, while the family was living in Pickering st., Portsmouth, N. H., he was committed to the State Industrial School in Manchester, N. H., at the age of 17.

BAD ARMY RECORD

His Army record shows at least three AWOL offenses, two lengthy sentences for desertion, and finally a dishonorable discharge, police said.

Following his Army life, he was jailed in Hartford, Ct., for eight months for stealing an auto and was released last month. He went home to Kittery, met Lois in Portsmouth, and set off with her for Boston and their criminal tour.

He departed from Kittery with Police Chief Smart seeking him on the old jail break charge from Alfred, Me. He and Lois live together at a rooming house in Portsmouth before their departure as "Mr. and Mrs. Corliss" and were evicted in July, police were informed.

Less has been learned of Lois and her background, except that she gave her address as Exeter, N. H. She is believed to have grown up in Tennessee, following her infant years in New London, and left her Tennessee home to travel to Florida, Wisconsin and other states.

Her interest in sailors led her to follow the fleet to Portsmouth, and she was working as a waitress in a tea room when she met up with Hardy, police said.

Still unsolved in the couple's tour of the nation, as described in their signed confessions, are references to other murders.

"ONLY KILLED TWO"

In his confession, Hardy allegedly wrote: "We have no regrets except we have only two corpses to our credit. There are several people on our list."

And in this same statement, Sheriff Glen Jones said, was a terse line:

"Our score is murder: Successful, 3; Chicago, 1; California, 1; Louisiana, 1. Failed, Missouri, 1."

He added the advice, in this statement:

"To the public, I say: 'Never be fooled by innocent people.'"

His bride, who interrupted a psalm singing service in the jail last Sunday to break the case by shouting that she wanted to confess to the McLain murder, "to make peace with the Lord," explained later her change of heart. She declared:

"I am one of those wacky religious persons. I was brought up on the Bible. When I heard that preacher, I decided that I had done something wrong."

At the time of the Sunday service, the couple were held on suspicion they had stolen the auto which they wrecked just outside Las Vegas when Hardy fell asleep at the wheel.

This was McLain's late model auto, the one in which he picked them up when they were hitchhiking.

WAIVED EXTRADITION

Sheriff Richard Hoskins of Nevada County, Cal., was due in Las Vega today to return the prisoners to Nevada City, Cal., to stand trial as soon as possible. They waived extradition in a proceeding before the local judge.

Meanwhile, Las Vegan Sheriff Jones has sent out inquiries on their criminal activities to State Police of Massachusetts, Maine, New York, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Kansas, Nebraska and Oregon.

They signed confessions, the sheriff said, that they plotted the murder of McLain on the night he put them up in a tourist camp after buying them supper.

Next day, on the road, they said, they suggested a stop in a remote section. The girl spread a blanket, she said, and staged a love scene with McLain while her husband approached quietly and fired a shot into the man's head, following this with two more shots.

Peace Coming, Truman Tells Boys

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—A world at peace "eventually" was forecast by President Truman today as he talked with more than 100 boys attending the American Legion-sponsored forum on government.

Heading the delegation is Chinese-American Edmond Gong, 16, of Miami, Fla.

Mr. Truman said:

"Just keep up the good work. I am perfectly willing to turn the country over to you when you rtime comes."

The President then invited those who had brought cameras to take snapshots of him. There was great maneuvering for position as they enthusiastically accepted his invitation.

Chemical Relief For Ulcers Told

If chemicals can soften water and remove impurities from it, why can't they also remove acid from the stomach?

A Philadelphia doctor, upon seeing a little girl in a bubble bath, asked himself this question and then went on to originate a synthetic resin which helps relieve pain in many peptic ulcer cases.

The value of his discovery is discussed by G. B. Lal, science editor, in the article, "Relieving Ulcers With Resin," to be published in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with all editions of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Another interesting American Weekly article for next Sunday will be "The Weaker Sex—Oh, Yeah?", which will amaze you with a scientific appraisal of the true hardihood of American womanhood.

According to the latest report from Miss Dorothy Day, manager of the Charlestown Girls' Club, which includes many Junior Victory Army members, the summer months have been joyful and packed with activities.

New apartments have been made in the clubhouse for the youngsters ranging from six to 10 years. Each apartment has been named by the children and they enjoy playing house, dolls and store, and each afternoon take part in the story telling hour.

Every Thursday afternoon the midgets—juniors and intermediates—seniors enjoy a splash party. They have swimming contests and races, demonstrate dives and take part in ball games.

Plans have been made for a watermelon contest Thursday between the midgets and juniors and the intermediates and seniors. Prizes will be awarded. The contestants will range from six to 16 years.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Young Skins Need These

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

WE DON'T LIKE to be a meanie and even hint about school days . . . high school and college . . . for in summertime the young crowd have such a wonderful time they don't much care whether school days come again or not.

But like all good things which can't go on forever . . . summer will soon be over and school days will be here . . . and young America will rush plans to return en masse looking brown and beautiful . . . The younger gals who don't care a whit about skin care when they're cavorting on the beach . . . swimming or sailing . . . will, of necessity, take time out to be transformed into pretty-cute-looking Betty Co-eds.

And as they choose the proper academic curriculum in preparation of their future pursuits . . . they should choose a complexion curriculum and follow it. We have special reference to the gal with the disturbed young skin . . . who casts just as big and saucy an eye at the stag-line as the next girl, but not with such success, perhaps.

A noted authority—who has spent a lifetime majoring in skin beauty . . . has just sponsored a new corrective treatment package . . . really a capsule complexion course for the young, tender skin that's not as beautiful as it should be.

CLEAR, GLOWING FRESHNESS

Because spotless, sparkling cleanliness denotes skin health . . . this corrective treatment package includes a gentle friction wash . . . penetrating granules that lather like soap and quickly banish pore-clogging grime. This grainy lather clears away the excess oil and dust that invite blackheads and blemishes . . . and also makes their manual removal much easier. Then, too, these fast-acting grains banish the dull, dingy look . . . changing it to clear, glowing freshness. It's a perfect preparation for adolescent skin.

Since the skin can't be roughed up without being soothed . . . the package also contains a gentle, all-round cream that's wonderful for lubrication. Its rich, velvety ingredients nourish the skin . . . pamper it to a softer, finer texture.

This face cream does a quick and thorough job of cleaning up . . . while it encourages the skin to newer, softer beauty. And for those occasions when the skin breaks out . . . often just before an important event, of course . . . isn't it always the way . . . a jar of effective medicated cream is also included. It will keep the outbreaks under control. A greaseless cream that contains sulphur, calomine and camphor . . . almost like a doctor's prescription . . . it should be applied before retiring to enable it to do its good work while you sleep and to spare you the agony of looking speckled for a date.

For the name of this corrective treatment for soft, lovely skin, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

OODLES OF MAIL . . . and we do mean letters . . . mean only one thing in a young thing's life . . . that she is pretty and popular and a sought-after companion for the boy-meets-girl routine. If, like Mona Freeman, you enjoy a high beauty rating, your extra-curricular social activities will be on the full side. For the young girl with the disturbed skin . . . there is always a new corrective treatment package to get her back on the road to complexion prettiness . . . and popularity.

Stick to Your Standards

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I am a girl of 16 and have a boy friend, 20. I love him very much and I believe he loves me, too. We have been going steady for about six months.

Just lately he has been asking me to do things that are not right. How can I make him forget about that? When I keep saying no, he gets mad, but then he forgets about being mad and things are all right again. I am wondering if I should keep on with him or forget about him.

"MISS CONFUSION."

Dear "Miss Confusion:"

Any young man of 20 who makes the wrong kind of proposals to a 16-year-old girl is somebody to let strictly alone. I rather imagine that if you continue to say "No," the problem will solve itself anyhow, as he will undoubtedly prefer to go looking for a girl with less good sense.

Don't let him persuade you to change your mind. You will never be sorry if you stick to your standards. On the contrary you will be very glad one of these days, when you meet the right kind of man and you have a clear record.

Tops in Cocktail Costumes

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

COSTUMES for cocktails are full of flavor this season. Imaginations have soared high.

Designers haven't dilly-dallied with compromise in making this set of fashions. Here is one category where they have spoken their piece with no nonsense from the sidelines. They've made skirts long, hips prominent and collars flaring and where they've felt like putting a big bustle, they've put a big bustle.

Adele Simpson designed the cocktail dress sketched today. It is made of plaid metallic taffeta in shades of green, brown and turquoise. The skirt, long in front, drapes to the heels at the back by means of a huge bow and sash. The wide three-quarter length sleeves have deep cuffs. The high turned-over collar, broadens at the front to make wide revers.

Marblehead Exhibit Friday

MOST EVERYONE has a hobby of some sort from collecting buttons to making block prints, and it's always fun for the fairer sex to see other peoples' hobbies especially when they are homey arts like hooking rugs or decorating furniture.

After viewing the exhibition of arts and crafts at King Hooper Mansion in Marblehead next Friday we wager many women will be ambitious to go home and start making all their Christmas presents. The affair is arranged by the Marblehead Arts Ass'n and will be a demonstration by 25 craftsmen in the actual making of their handiwork.

Mrs. C. Glover Bowes of Swampscott and Mrs. William Duncan of Marblehead will show how to decorate furniture. Miss Myra L. Davis of Boston and Miss Sadie May Morse of Marblehead Neck will give demonstrations in the old-fashioned arts of spinning and weaving. There will be a demonstration in painting trays by Mrs. Douglas Conners of Marblehead and candle dipping by Miss Rowena L'Abbe, Swampscott.

Other exhibitors include Miss Katharine L. Alden, Plymouth, pottery; Miss Eleanor E. Bang, Newton, leather work and chip carving; Mrs. Carl H. Raucher, Milton, embossed copper work, and Miss Genevieve McDonald, Boston, finger painting.

Debs and post debs in period costumes will help visitors enjoy themselves by serving coffee. They are the Misses Ellen and Peggy Lane Connolly, Sheila and Patricia Pinkham, Cordelia MacPherson, Sallie Hope Brown, Ann O'Day, Stephanie Chamberlain, Eleanor Lyman and Susannah Freeman.

After a sojourn of several weeks at Mansion House, Poland Spring, Me., Mrs. William H. Chapin has returned to her home in Cambridge. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Truesdell of Waban were guests at a luncheon in their honor at Mansion House en route to Auburn to visit their aunt, Mrs. Edwin Stubbs.

Post deb Betsy Ayer is appearing this week at the Lenox Theater near Tanglewood, in "St. Francis of Assissi." In the cast with her is another young Bostonian, Polly Dunfey of Nahant. Betsy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James B. Ayer of Milton, became enthusiastic about dramatics when she played in Junior League theatricals the year she made her debut. She attends Rollins College in the winter.

WEDDING BELLS will chime next month for Lorna Owen, Milton, and William Bradley Morehouse of Fairfield, Ct., whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Owen, Jr. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Milton Academy and Mary Hitchcock Memorial School of Nursing in Hanover, N. H. She is a granddaughter of Prof. and Mrs. George Owen of Newton Center and the late Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Trafford, Milton.

Her fiance studied at Dartmouth in the class of 1946 and served three years in the armed forces.

HONEYMOONING at Winthrop, Me., are the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Vatter, whose marriage took place recently in Philadelphia. The bride is the former Georgia Love Taul. She met her husband while attending the University of Pennsylvania where both received their masters' degrees this spring. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. August J. Vatter of Roslindale, have returned from attending the wedding in the Quaker City.

AN IMPORTANT NEW ISSUE

THE AGITATION for public ownership of utilities, which has been successful in the case of the Boston Elevated Railroad, is liable to be extended to electric light and power companies as soon as the Massachusetts Legislature reconvenes.

The three hundred and sixty-five thousand residents of Greater Boston are not particularly happy about the increases recently imposed on them by the Boston Edison Company, whose rates were already among the highest in the country, and their displeasure is apt to be reflected rather strongly in the acts of their Senators and Representatives.

The City of Taunton, which has owned an electric plant for nearly a half-century, lost little time, following the Edison boost, in making known the fact that the amount of power which cost Bostonians $4.90 before the increase can still be purchased in Taunton for the relatively small sum of $3.80.

The Taunton people further revealed that their municipally-operated light and power business had produced a profit of $175,000, which was duly turned over to the city treasurer and used by him to effect a five-dollar reduction in this year's tax rate.

Additional inquiry on the part of curious Senators and Representatives showed that most of the cities and towns which own their electric companies enjoy substantially lower rates than the Greater Boston communities served by the Edison, the favored illustration being Belmont, where the charge for 100 kilowatt hours of current is $3.38, or $1.52 less than the Edison's.

Not many Senators and Representatives have investigated the possibilities of hydro-electric power (electricity derived from rivers and tidal basins), but when they do, they will readily see that it can be generated in New England for less than half of the present cost of current obtained from high-priced coal.

GOOD ADVICE

DR. NANCY HOLMES, a 24-year-old blonde Dalla, Tex., girl currently attending the dental convention in Boston, advises ambitious young women to think seriously about entering the dental profession.

"It offers then a wonderful opportunity to assist people in preserving their health and good appearance," she says, "and among its many rewards and satisfactions is the chance to enjoy a measure of personal independence not easily achieved in other fields."

Although we have not dwelt much on the subject of lady dentists, we are inclined to agree with the charming Dr. Holmes.

The matrimonial status of the dentist is seldom important to a person wishing to have a tooth filled or extracted.

But whether a young woman teacher is single or married is a very weighty consideration to inquisitive school boards.

Furthermore, the lady dentist can close her office anytime she wants to spend a day in the country or explore the stores in search of bargains, but a teacher who treated her classroom in that manner would soon be replaced.

BAD TO WORSE

THE AMERICAN Society of Planning Officials predicts that traffic jams, already the tightest in history, are going to be considerably worse before they show any improvement. The society was meeting in Chicago, but its thoughts must have centered on Boston.

For years it has been general knowledge that finding a parking place in this old-fashioned city of ours, is a task comparable with locating the proverbial needle in the stack of hay; and that business and employment have suffered needlessly as a consequence.

But the knowledge seems to have had little influence on the fate of the Garage Under the Common, which is still nothing more than an imaginative dream in spite of its popularity with the public and overwhelming endorsement by the Legislature.

Indeed, indeed, repentance oft before
I swore—but was I sober when I swore?
And then and then came spring, and rose-in-hand
My thread-bare penitence apieces tore.
And much as wine has played the infidel,
And robbed me of my robe of honor—well,
I often wonder what the vintners buy
One half so precious as the stuff they sell.

—OMAR KHAYYAM.

A SAN FRANCISCAN has invented a gadget a man can use to cut and trim his own hair. It resembles another hair-cutting gadget recently presented me. I haven't tried that one out yet. Not that I lack confidence in it. I believe I could cut my own hair with it. But how would it look? That is the question that causes me to hesitate.

BRIEFLY: Frog farming is a major industry in Hertfordshire, Eng. One farmer there has 50,000 frogs on his place. How would you like to live next door to him?

Joan Crawford

Imagine 50,000 frogs croaking at the same time . . . Add members My Name Is a Poem Club: Sue Pugh, Jennings, La.; Dinah Finer, Paterson, N. J. . . . Sally Malewich of Hicks st., Brooklyn, has to eat a stogie, poor girl. Sally rashly made the following statement to this department: "In 'Sally, Irene and Mary,' Joan Crawford played Irene and Sally O'Neill played Sally. If the third girl, who played Mary, wasn't Norma Shearer I will eat a—stogie." (Note—Constance Bennett played Mary.)

HORSES AND WOMEN: Women live longer than men. Therefore it would seem a good idea if the bride were four or five years older than the groom. Then the period in which elderly widows have to live alone would be shortened. However, the belief most elderly widows are unhappy may be erroneous. In my stays at residential hotels I have noticed most of the elderly widows there seem quite contented. They appear to have very good appetites. There is also evidence many greatly enjoy their freedom from matrimonial harness. As a member of the Husbands' Protective Ass'n I don't like to point this out. But we must face the facts. Perhaps that man was right who said: "Sorrow for the loss of a husband is like a pain in the elbow; sharp and short."

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Has there ever been an outstanding film star born in the borough of the Bronx, N. Y.? A—Jack Mulhall was born in the Bronx. Q—So you're an expert on the Bible. Then tell us, how the "Vinegar Bible" got its name. A—I deny I claimed I was an expert on the Bible. However, I will say the "Vinegar Bible," a collector's item, is so called because of a misprint. In the 20th Chapter of St. Luke "The Parable of the Vineyard" is printed to read: "The Parable of the Vinegar." Kindly rush stogie by return mail. A Pittsburgh stogie, please.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: The only entirely debt free state in the union is Nevada. In 1948 it is expected Saratoga County, N. Y., will be free of taxes on real estate. In both instances, legalized gambling has brought about the happy condition mentioned . . . A Brooklynite tells me that at the age of 44 she has started taking piano lessons and is hugely enjoying the same. She is the mother of seven children . . . My Pittsburgh reader named Gwladys sent me a birthday card as usual. I received an astonishing number of birthday cards from kindly readers this year. I often think it is too bad a country with so many nice people in it as ours has so much trouble.

SAYS SHE: "So a mother-in-law claims daughters-in-law usually have a chip on their shoulders and are the cause of the dissension between the two," writes a young matron of Baltimore. "Is it a chip on the shoulder that starts things going wrong when a mother-in-law keeps speaking of the wonderful girls her son could have married? Or when she takes the stand that her angel child is always right and his allegedly inept wife is always wrong? Why don't mothers-in-law stay in their own homes more? Why can't they just drop around to dinner once a month and let it go at that? I could say more about these handicaps to married happiness, but is it necessary? As troublemakers in the families of their sons the evidence is all against them."

OVER THE BRIDGE: Am informed the old custom of "rushing the growler" still prevails in Brooklyn. States my informant: "In the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn where I live, a can of beer once cost a dime, then it was raised to a quarter, now the charge is $1. But I get my money's worth as I have a one gallon can which is filled to the top."

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

LET US TRY to make it as simple as possible, although the politicians have so over-complicated the problem that it is difficult to cut away the barnacles. There is no scarcity of dollars, if anything, too many dollars are in actual circulation.

Geo. E. Sokolsky

The point is that countries that have borrowed dollars are unable to pay them back. They therefore want to borrow more dollars to produce goods with which to make a profit so that they might be able to redeem a part of their I. O. U.'s. It is a desperate debtor's attitude.

The theory of the dollar shortage was manufactured by the debtors with the object of convincing the creditor that he ought to share his productivity with nations that are bogged down in a morass of experimental politics and whose people suffer from war psychosis and cannot settle down to work.

Garet Garrett has wisely written in his foreword to Walter Sulzbach's "Bugaboo of Dollar Scarcity," published by the National Industrial Conference Board:

"But to speak of a scarcity of dollars, literally, is to make nonsense. If there is one thing now plentiful in the earth it is the American dollar. What is scarce—scarce in the whole world—is the equivalent of dollars, which is a very different matter and cannot be cured by simply providing more dollars."

THE EUROPEAN THEORY is that if the United States does not provide Europe with more dollars, this country will lose the credits we have already provided and we shall also lose our prospective foreign trade.

But we have to ask: If we can only save our money by pouring more good money after bad, and if we can only have a foreign trade by giving the customers the money with which to buy our goods, where will this process end? Will it end before we are broke ourselves?

As it stands now, the United States is the principal producing nation. Although Great Britain came out of World War II with a loss of about $30,000,000,000 in national wealth, her industrial productivity approximates what it was before the war, but she can do no better with her present plant and equipment.

It is difficult for Great Britain to draw on private capital for investment in the reconstruction of existing industries or the development of new ones as long as she experiments with socialistic nationalization.

The four principal producing countries before the war were the United States, Great Britain, Germany and Japan. Two of these were knocked out by war and remain out; Great Britain is inadequate. Therefore, all the world seeks American goods—not only manufactured goods but agricultural and mineral products as well. All this talk about a dollar shortage really amounts to a demand that the United States supply its goods and services to Europe for nothing, for free.

BETWEEN 1942 AND 1945, this country supplied the world with $48,000,000,000 of goods and services and received back $8,000,000,000. Most of the difference was wiped out as an act of grand generosity. During 1946, the United States provided $15,300,000,000 to foreign countries, receiving $7,100,000,000.

Among the agencies used to transfer American wealth to Europe and Asia were UNRRA and private remittances which together amounted to $3,100,000,000. It looks now as though Europe would be willing to settle for an American contribution of $5,000,000,000 a year for four years.

Three institutions exist to transfer American wealth aboard:

1—The Export-Import Bank has a lending authority of $3,500,000,000. This bank is owned by the government of the United States. Its loans may not be political in nature under the law.

2—The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, which rose out of the Bretton Woods agreement. This bank has an authorized capital of $10,000,000,000 (about $8,000,000,000 paid up), of which the United States, among about 45 countries, subscribed $3,175,000,000. Only the United States possesses a free market for the purchase and resale of its securities.

3—The International Monetary Fund exists to facilitate exchange operations.

The sum total of all this is that spigots have been hammered into our national wealth to siphon it off. Dr. Sulzbach asks:

"Shall the United States give its wealth or lend it?"

What's the difference?

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug 5—The biggest Swedish excitement since Garbo and Bergman is a man—this time. Alf Kjellin, to be exact,—a 27-year-old Scandinavian who is not only the toast of his own country but is drawing raves here in the Swedish-made "Torment."

David Selznick has this prize all packaged for his productions and his first Hollywood movie will be "Tender is the Night" with Jennifer Jones.

Jennifer Jones

Kjellin is already in New York and heads here in 10 days to talk business with his boss. But in the meantime, he has written David an unconsciously humorous note.

After stating how much he wanted to work with him and how fully he appreciated the opportunities David is lining up for him, Alf added, naively, "Please feel free to put me in anything—if it is good!"

JOHN STEINBECK is one of the few people who could visit in Russia and be welcome. Most people would get the cold shoulder, but not Steinbeck, who is in Moscow, where he will receive visas that will enable him to live in a small Russian village.

While there he will write the life of a Russian village, eliminating politics and ideologies and concentrating on the lives of the villagers.

Mrs. Steinbeck is returning to the United States since no arrangements could be made for her in Russia.

DOLORES DEL RIO writes that she's leaving tomorrow for the Argentine to make a movie based on "Lady Windermere's Fan." The top Argentinian director, Louis Zavslasky, will be at the helm. She'll stay there until Christmas time.

I don't know any more loyal or devoted fans in the world than the Argentines. I get many letters from Buenos Aires. My column appears in the Buenos Aires Herald and other South American papers, and it is always very gratifying how interested the South Americans are in all that pertains to movies. I hope to go there myself some day soon.

OF ALL THE ANIMAL STARS in Hollywood, the one that is the most carefully guarded is Jimmy, the Raven, who once appeared on the radio with me. On Aug. 12, when "Red Stallion" is previewed by Eagle-Lion at the Chinese Theater, Jimmy and every important animal star in pictures will be on display—but Jimmy is the only one who has been insured.

Before Curley Twiford, his owner, would allow the 14-year-old bird to be exhibited, he asked that $100,000 insurance be taken out on him. That's the amount Jimmy has already earned. In the forecourt will be the famed mountain lion of Curley's, Chita, the chimp; Lassie, Flicka, Trigger, and Champ, the two Western horses, an owl and an eagle that have both figured in current movies, as well as a trained bear.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Greer Garson and George Sanders are such a brand new dining and dancing duet that the fresh paint off their names is sticking to my typewriter keys as I write them.

Yes, the lovely MGM redhead had the complete attention of the suave Mr. Sanders as they dined tete-a-tete at the Chanteclair and even had a dance or two to the dreamy music.

There's a nice story about a photographer in connection with this. Realizing he had a photo "scoop," he leveled his camera on Greer and George. But when Greer looked up and very sweetly said, "Please, not this time"—he bowed and walked away. Let that be a lesson to stars who go in for camera-smashing tactics when they don't want to be photographed.

IF PERRY COMO can arrange his radio engagements, he'll take off for England the latter part of August to do a quick musical film for J. Arthur Rank, who has offered him the job. Como was with 20th at one time, and then they parted, and since that time the ex-barber has done all right.

Perry Como

He's signed on the radio for two years straight at $6000 a week and picked up a lot of other change on theater personal appearances in the Midwest, where he sang.

TERESA WRIGHT, who will undergo a Caesarean for her second baby in September, will be well enough by December to leave for England to make "Secrets" for Samuel Goldwyn.

Teresa is very excited about the picture, because Dana Andrews is the male star—and believe you me, any picture in which Dana is in these days is money in the bank. He's that popular. Teresa follows both Mary Pickford and Norma Talmadge in this very appealing role.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Well, here's a surprise. Dolly O'Brien, who recently divorced Count Jose Dorelis, is in Hollywood. She was at the Rex Harrisons' party Saturday night, but she wasn't with Clark Gable, nor was she with him last night. I don't believe she came to Hollywood especially to see him, since Dolly always visits here once a year.

Who is the pretty red-haired girl Steve Cochran has been escorting around?

Director John Auer and Jean Halperin, a lovely girl visitor from Florida, have been at the Santa Monica Mayfair four times during the past week, which, if it isn't serious, is at least consistent.

Margaret Lockwood's 6-year-old daughter will come to Hollywood to live with Phyllis Calvert while Miss Lockwood is making personal appearances in the east.

Helen Forrest, who planned to marry Paul Houlihan immediately, has postponed her marriage in favor of a personal appearance tour.

Kay Thompson, Bill Spier's estranged wife, is expected to establish residence in Las Vegas when she gets there Wednesday to break in her new act at the El Rancho Vegas.

MGM is on the verge of making history by suspending a player, Tom Drake, who refused to make a picture for Bob Sisk, will be taken off the payroll unless he does as he's told.

An audition made by Ed Wynn and his son, Keenan, is so good that a sponsor is about to close for it.

A new combination is Georgette Windsor and H. D. Hover, owner of Ciro's.

John Carroll and Lucille Ryman, who are still that way about each other, at the King's.

Eddie Dymytryk, who was recently divorced, with Jean Porter at the Santa Monica Mayfair. Rumors report that Jean will be the next Mrs. Dymytryk.

Margaret O'Brien the center of attraction at Peggy Cleary's "Talk of the Town," where her mother entertained at dinner.

Noel Coward, who is now in New York, is not speaking to Mary Martin. Their battle dates from the time she was in his play in London.

Patty Alicoat, daughter of the publisher of Film Daily, Jack Alicoat, will soon announce her engagement to John Bergen, head of Appollo Records.

Boston After Dark

IT APPEARS AT THIS WRITING that former Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever is not to enjoy an unapposed walkover next year in his long-deferred attempt to be the Democratic candidate for Governor . . . Facing a very difficult election day opponent in Governor Bradford, the Dever camp was looking forward to an easy romp in the race to head the Democratic ticket.

WE LEARN on excellent authority, however, that former Governor Maurice J. Tobin will be a candidate against Mr. Dever . . . Mr. Tobin is described as hopeful of his chances, and inclined to blame his 1946 defeat by Governor Bradford on the strong Republican trend which overwhelmed his party's candidates and claimed as victim, along with himself, Mr. Dever . . . Mr. Tobin has been out of the limelight since he made an official journey to Guam last spring as one of an inspecting committee of three . . . But he has not been inactive . . . Mr. Tobin is said also to be hopeful of being recognized by the Truman administration and the Democratic national committee as the most likely prospect to lure the state, back to the Democratic column . . . Buoyed by these beliefs, Mr. Tobin has been keeping in touch with the voters by answering their letters (dozens a day, his friends say) . . . The former Governor has borrowed a page from the political book of Congressman John W. McCormack in his treatment of this correspondence, and is replying personally, and without benefit of a secretary, to every letter in his own hand.

SOME OF MR. DEVER'S most important supporters have been aware of the Tobin prospective candidacy . . . They are convinced that Mr. Dever has proved his potency as the best vote-getter in statewide contests, and that he will prevail against any opponent, or groupings of opponents . . . They do confess, however, to a feeling of disappointment, tinged with disillusion, at the prospect of Mr. Tobin entering the political jousts after Mr. Dever was nice enough in 1946 to subordinate himself to the Tobin ambition to be re-elected governor, and to be satisfied with running unsuccessfully as it turned out—for lieutenant governor.

THE GOSSIP in Democratic circles when Paul consented to let his name be entered for this comparatively minor office was that a pact had been agreed upon in which Mr. Tobin was supposed to have been willing to step down after the impending term (which didn't materialize), and to leave the road clear for Mr. Dever in 1948 . . .

(Neither of the principals would affirm the existence of any such pact or program, incidentally) . . . A Dever campaign leader with whom this department discussed the Tobin candidacy admitted that he felt keenly that his friend Paul should not be subjected to the rigors of a stern primary battle just before engaging in what looms as an all-out struggle for votes with Gov. Bradford heading the Republican ticket.

A DEVER-TOBIN contest can hardly develop into anything less than a bitter, name-calling fight in spite of their banner-carrying alliance of 1946 . . . Until the Republican sweep of recent years, these two stood out as natural rivals for the leadership of the Democratic party in Massachusetts . . . Until Leverett Saltonstall became Senator and became a "strong man" as apparently dislodgeable as the GOP junior Senator, Lodge, Democratic prospects in the free-wheeling days of the New Deal seemed to hold out hopes of high office for many years for these two youngish politicos . . . Times have changed . . . Any Democrat who gets anything in a statewide contest in 1948 will be a fortunate fellow indeed, according to political forecasting based on polls and surveys as of this writing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—Sonja Henie's latest admirer is a handsome Greek named John Coulandris . . . Mary Kirk Brown and her attorneys talked Betty Brunetta into settling that Madison Square Garden incident in which the two girls fought a bout parallel to the main event—for $100 . . .

American tourist interests are working feverishly to get Princess Elizabeth and her fiance, Philip Mountbatten, to spend their honeymoon over here. (They'd probably love it, too; but it may be hard getting His Majesty's approval) . . . Leon and Eddie's has hired Milton Dahlberg to act as a cocktail-time host—a job once held by Mike Romanoff and later, Toots Shor.

Dahlberg launched his "project"by inviting Powers beauties and Conover dreamboats to leave their hatboxes in the checkroom while they shopped or lunched and giving them permission to have telephone calls for them referred to Leon and Eddie's, where messages will be taken carefully by a specially trained telephone "ambassador" . . . Penny Davidson and her Army major husband have Reno in the bean-o . . . She's captain of the show girls at the Diamond Horseshoe . . . Federal agents are working overtime to crack a dope-peddling ring which operates between Chicago and California . . . Wait till you see the film "Green for Danger"—a British spine-chiller with the most novel detective character since Sherlock Holmes. Audiences are sure to cry for more of the same fellow, an actor named Alastair Sim . . . The producers of the Emmett Lavery play, "A Gentleman from Athens," have a plum waiting for a young actress—if they can find her. She should be a blonde Kate Hepburn type who looks "as if she took riding lessons at 3 and won blue ribbons at 6.

BERMUDA, Aug. 5—Lady Leatham, the Governor General's missus, was pouring out graciousness by the hogshead at a state dinner we somehow got invited to. The G.G. himself, Adm. Sir Ralph Leatham, was dishing out equal quantities.

The affair was practically reeking with dignity.

Probably the most dignified of our group was Mr. Fred Peck, who, with another Peck, operates a merchandising establishment in Manhattan. This Peck, of two Pecks, or half a bushel, was assuring Lady Leatham he was most honored at being invited to break a scone at the festive board.

Suddenly he let out a yip of anguish and stuck his thumb in his mouth. Several of us looked accusingly at Lady Leatham, suspecting she had bitten him.

The incident was glossed over. Later, on the moonlit boat-ride back to our hotel, Mr. Sigmund Janas, president of Colonial Airlines, took Mr. Peck mildly to task.

"Do you always yell and suck your thumb at formal state functions?" he demanded.

"I do not," retorted Mr. Peck indignantly, "I couldn't explain it at the time because it would have sounded like a reflection upon Bermuda, but I was stung by a wasp!"

BERMUDA'S TWO principal relaxing spots, the Ace of Clubs and 21 Club, are very strict on matters of etiquette, but at the same time they are loath to lose any business, particularly American business where the dollar is the medium of exchange.

These caravansaries insist that gentlemen wear coats while lapping up a rum swizzle, which is a native concoction calculated to make you go native. But Americans are in the habit of shedding as much as possible while in these parts.

So the clubs have a rackful of seersucker coats which are loaned to customers while imbibing.

I tried on a couple of these garments and I wish to say that Bermudians must have an idea that Americans come in very weird sizes.

I suspect the young lady who waited on us at 21 Club of being a blue-nosed prohibitionist at heart. When the beautiful Mrs. Carie Bolton ordered a creme de mint frappe, the waitress looked at her disapprovingly and sniffed: "That comes under the heading of strong drink, doesn't it?"

I am a man of simple wants, inured to hardship and privation. I am always astounded at manifestations of luxury living.

We were swimming around in the Atlantic Ocean, a fairly-sizeable body of water, when I happened to mention to Air Prexy Janas that I was thirsty.

"That's easy," replied Mr. Janas. "We will have the boy swim us out a couple of bottles of pop."

I said "Ha, Ha!" or something scoffing like that, whereupon Mr. Janas lifted his voice in a mighty shout that echoed off the rock-ribbed walls of the cove.

By golly, if a young man did not come swimming toward us a couple of minutes later with two bottles of pop and two glasses, balanced on a bronzed palm!

Treacher Revives 'Ghost Train,'

By PEGGY DOYLE

Notwithstanding the straw hat circuit's aim to discover new faces, he proposes to "stick this old face out at you as long as you'll put up with it," Arthur Treacher assured amused, heartily approving audience last night at New England Mutual Hall.

They not only put up with it, there was a more-more attitude throughout the evening as the Boston Summer Theater first-nighters renewed acquaintance with the popular stage and screen star and "The Ghost Train," the extraordinarily durable thriller that crosses the Charles to Cambridge Summer Theater next week, following the current engagement here.

There were those in the audience who possibly could step on stage and play "The Ghost Train" themselves, so familiar are they with the Arnold Ridley melodrama which was first presented to local audiences by the late, beloved E. E. Clive on Dec. 27, 1926.

Every year following through 1930, Clive revived it at the Copley Theater for long, prosperous runs. In 1936, Mary Young presented it at the Copley, and appeared in it. More recently, in 1943, it was again presented at the Copley with Boston's own Muriel Williams starred in the production.

After all these revivals (originally it was produced in London in 1924) it is too familiar a story to need detailing here.

It should be said here, however, that Treacher's balmy appearing Englishman, who was actually one of Scotland Yard's famous sleuths, gave new life and entertainment values to this dated chiller-diller of several decades gone.

His droll performing turned what could have been a repetitious chore into one of the summer's brighter evenings in the theater. Treacher breathes robustious life into the tired old "Ghost Train."

Berkshire Music Display At Lenox

The Berkshire, new radio-television-phonograph, which was spectacularly introduced as the climax of the "Music for All" concert at Tanglewood Tuesday evening, is now on display for the first time. Demonstrations are being given by RCA Victor at the Brotherhood Club, Lenox.

RCA Victor has also arranged to present television demonstrations for the public at the Brotherhood Club daily at 4:30. Students of the Berkshire Music Center will participate in the program and the public will be able to see themselves on television receivers.

The scholarship fund of the Center is expected to benefit substantially from the sales of the Berkshire instruments.

In a demonstration of the instrument's high fidelity of music reproduction, the Berkshire was introduced at the finale of the "March of Musical Fidelity," when the Boston orchestra, Dr. Koussevitzky conducting, stopped suddenly during its performance of the overture to "Egmont" and the audience heard the concluding portion from a record played on the Berkshire prominently displayed on a platform above the people of the orchestra members.

British Razoo: Season's Audit: Tom's Patience

By AUSTEN LAKE

ONE OF THE PUZZLING TRAITS of European nations is their knack for taking opposite sides of the same question and being very sincere about it. So here are the British newspapers, which so lately gave Jack Kramer, the U. S. tennis ace; John B. Kelly Jr., the diamond skulls champ, and various other U. S. athletic visitors, the raucous razoo for bringing along frozen meats and dried foods to lend them added nourishment. Several London dailies were quite acid about it.

Yet now suggestions in the U. S. A. that our athletes should withdraw from the Olympic games in London next year, because of being better fed and better equipped than other countries, is met with a yowl as vociferous as the other. "Stupid," "silly," "unsporting," "ridiculous," are a few of the greetings. And yet I have a clipping dated last June from Lord Beaverbrook's London Star, advocating postponement of the games because of inequality of food supplies.

It says, "Many British commentators point to the danger of enormous discrepancies in the food and general living conditions which exist between Europe and America and may result in teams so unequal that the games will be a farce."

This is a sample of why Americans are confused at European reactions. We get blistered either way.

THE MAJOR LEAGUE SEASON stands at the three-quarter pole and the firms are showing their true destiny. The Yankees, generally mourned at the halfway mark, now are headed for a brutally one-sided victory. The Dodgers, discounted when Leo Durocher was given the bum's bounce, now head the elder loop and are as hard to discourage as a singing drunk.

The Giants, and Braves are gone, except for occasional quivers. The only competition left would seem to rest between the uprising Cardinals and Bums. The moribund Red Sox are hopelessly overpowered and the reason traces directly back to the failure of its breed farms to produce any player of ability this season. In fact, though Yawkey has poured large sums into his farm system in the last ten seasons, scarcely any athlete of note has been developed. Yet the Cards, Dodgers and Yankees have annually been fed amply from their minor league agencies. What have they got that the Red Sox have not?

IS PATIENCE A VICE OR VIRTUE? For one of Tom Yawkey's many interesting qualities is his tolerance toward failure. Most major league owners long ago would have offered one or more sacrificial goats on the altar of public exasperation, but as yet there is no smell of roasting flesh around the Fenway chambers. Joe Cronin is still his manager and Eddie Collins still his major domo.

The answer is that profit sheets, financial statements and fiduciary clips have less interest for Tom than squatting under the lee of the grandstand and chin-chopping with his hired celebrities. The rest of the answer is that Tom, having a ship load of piastres, can afford failure. No avaricious loan sharks haunt his financial waters, no reefs of insolvency stud his course. He's having $4,000,000 worth of fun.

FROM LOS ANGELES comes Ty Cobb's reason for rarely attending ball games. He states, "I can't stand the nervous strain of watching other fellows play. The worst punishment that could be devised for me would be to be chained to a grandstand seat and forced to watch a full schedule. I'd have to be carried to a sanitarium to recover."

I recall seeing Tyrus at a Yankee Red Sox game several years ago in New York and watching him bob, squirm and jerk with every pitch. He had trouble to keep from falling off his chair, trouble in keeping his teeth from becoming castanets in the critical moments of the game. So having seen Cobb, the master weaver, we are nominating our 1947 rankings on the top bobbers and weavers.

No. 1 on our list is this same Thomas Austin Yawkey, who is the singles champion of weavers and bobbers from 1932 to 1947. His ague every time a foul tip hits the screen just below his rooftop box is the best % lurch in the game. Tom snaps his teeth out of their sockets as the pitcher makes his motion and gives a body English twis as the batter swings.

No. 2 bobber is Judge Emil Fuchs, ex-officio president of the Braves, who is the only one who puts his art to a full utilitarian purpose. The Judge uses an ambidextrous lurch with every pitch, accompanied by a musical grunt, as a means of knocking the ashes off his cigar without flicking them.

The ball yards of the nation may have others who can challenge or even outdistance these phenomenal performers but lurch for lurch we'll match our champs against all comers, excepting Cobb.

THE BRAVES' CURRENT SLUMP recalls a Navy story of a youthful tug skipper ordered to tow a floating dry dock from Brooklyn to San Francisco. When he told his CPO, a Chinese, the Chink shook his head. "No can do," he said. The officer grinned, "Must do," he said.

So they hitched up and off they went. Storms lashed hard and seas ran high and several times the tow lines broke and there were days when it looked as though they'd founder. But one fine, sunny day they steamed into the Harbor and the officer turned to the Chinese. "Can do?" he asked. The Chinese shrugged, "Can do once," he said. Moral—The Braves pitching did it once and now appears to have reached exhaustion.

Earl Torgeson Is Facing Fine Big League Future

By BILL GRIMES

Although he has been alternating with big Frank McCormick at first base, since the installation of the "Shock Troops" on June 13, Earl Torgeson still is the fair-haired boy with the Braves' fans.

Torgeson was the most highly publicized rookie to come to Boston since Ted Williams. And, it is apropos to mention that, "The Kid" didn't make the grade on his first try. He was sent to Minneapolis for a season. "Torgy" was the recipient of a terrific build up. He was the finest prospect the "super" scouts had ever seen. But, the pro-Torgeson group laid it on too thickly. The truth of the matter was that there were many little details about playing the initial sack that "Torgy" hadn't mastered when he reported to manager Billy Southworth at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., last February.

Southworth was the victim of the Torgeson propaganda. After studying Chief Scout Ted McGrew's reports on Torgeson, "Billy, the Kid" was convinced that another Hal Chase was coming to the major league. But, it wasn't long after the start of training that Southworth began to wonder if McGrew and the legion of "bird dogs" had erred on Torgeson.

In an attempt to beat the gun, before they'd analyzed "Torgy's" natural gifts, his speed, arm and power, the experts (when it was rumored that the Braves were in the market for a first baseman) tagged the Snohomish boy as a wash out.

Then, because he struck out four times and was charged with two errors, Torgeson was made the "goat" of the opening series in Brooklyn. Little mention was made of the fact that Johnny Sain was not himself in the opening game and that "Torgey's" miscue in the second contest had far less bearing on the final outcome that the five hits and four walks that Mort Cooper gave up in 1 1-3 innings.

Torgeson's error in the eighth inning, which they said lost the first Brooklyn game, was excusable. In fact, if the play had been ruled correctly by the plate umpire, Jackie Robinson, the batter, would have been called out. After bunting, Robinson ran to first base on the infield grass. "Torgy" made the play but just as he threw to Connie Ryan, covering first, Jackie turned back into the base line. The ball hit him on the shoulder and caroomed into foul territory, allowing Ed Stanky to third and Robinson to go to second. Robinson should have been retired for running out of the base line and Stanky ordered back to first base.

On the train returning home that night, Manager Southworth announced that he was going to bench Torgeson and play Frank McCormick at first base. But, the Braves had too much money invested in "Torgy." So, when the Tribe took on the Phillies the following day, Earl Torgeson was at the initial sack and, moreover, he had a perfect day at bat and handled 11 chances without a slip.

By virtue of his single, double, walk and home run in the first National League game he played at Braves Field, Earl sold himself to the fans. And, the boys, who lay it on the line to watch the Braves, are still on "Torgy's" bandwagon.

The New England fans (and they have the support of a multitude of brethern around Ford Frick's circuit) are so pro-Torgeson that they question Southworth's judgment in benching their favorite when the opponents use left handed pitchers against the Braves.

Like the fans, I was under the impression that "Torgy" had hit far better than the official figures. He has been at bat 57 times against southpaws. But, he has connected with only 12 hits, which gives him an average of .211. However, Torgeson's RBI against left handers equals his number of hits 12, which is exceptionally good and proves that he's very dangerous when the "ducks are on the pond."

Barring accidents, there isn't any question in my mind but that Earl Torgeson will be the Braves' regular and only first baseman next season. He has improved tremendously afield since spring training and he's better than an even bet to finish the season in the .300 class. And, for a 23-year kid, "Torgy" has done all right during his freshman year in the National League.

Earl does considerable clowning. He comes up with a new one practically every day. But, baseball is a serious business with him. In a little black book, he keeps records of how opposing hurlers pitch him. A month ago he confessed to the writer that four clubs were pitching him four different ways and getting him out but he added "I'll rectify that situation eventually."

And, the New England fans agree with the colorful boy from Snohomish.

Sibi Sisti Out of Braves' Lineup for Rest of Season

"Pistol Pete" Reiser and Dixie Walker ended the Braves chances of starting this short home stay with a victory.

With the score 2-2 in the 10th Reiser, who had doubled with one down trotted home on Walker's home run into the Dodger bull pen. And, that was bingo.

Dixie Walker's game winning home run was his 100th in the major leagues.

The Braves and Dodgers pulled into town on the same train at 5:45 p. m. yesterday afternoon. The "Bums" came out of Chicago on the Lake Shore Limited to which the Tribes' cars from Cincinnati were attached at Cleveland.

Pres. "Jake" Flowers of the Milwaukee Brewers is here for a short visit. His club was burning up the American Ass'n, but now has lost eight straight.

Pres. Flowers is loud in his praise of Alva Dark, Danny Murtaugh, Glen Elliott, Tommy Neill and "Skippy" Roberge.

The Braves make no bones about not caring for air travel. They were to have flown home from Cincinnati but wound up on the New York Central.

Sibby Sisti, the Braves regular shortstop, watched the game from a box. Although his shoulder injury is responding to treatment, Sisti is out of the lineup for the rest of the season.

Manager Billy Southworth will send Johnny Sain, his ace right-hander to the mound tonight. Burt Shotten, the Dodger pilot, will counter with Hal Gregg or Joe Hatton.

The Braves have drawn approximately 50,000 more customers on the road this season than they have at home.

Hilda Chester, the Lolly Hopkins of Flatbush, was on hand with her cowbell. GRIMES

Dobson (12-6) on Mound for Sox Against Solons Tonight

Washington, D. C. Aug. 5—The inept Red Sox face a terrific task here even though their opposition is only the Washington Senators. The Sox have two night games in a row to play with Ossie Bluege's team and a single Thursday day game.

They have attained no great success as night game operators. But Joe Cronin is trotting out Joe Dobson (12-6) to oppose Walter "Specs" Masterson (8-8), a far better hurler than his record might indicate.

Maybe, too the Sox will find themselves in the current series and return home for their Friday night tilt with the Yanks with a chip on their collective shoulders. There's nothing better to cure a slipping team than three straight wins.

Williams KO's Montgomery In 6th Round

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5 (AP)—An explosive brown stick of dynamite named Ike Williams blew up in Bob Montgomery's face in the sixth round in Municipal Stadium last night, drove Bobcat Bob into unconsciousness and became the first undisputed world lightweight champion in five years. Each weighed 133¾.

In the biggest fight show in Philadelphia in 11 years, the "Little Brown Bomber" from Trenton, N. J., suddenly cut loose after five tough, gruelling rounds, floored Montgomery once with as pretty a right hand haymaker as you'd want to see, and then put him away for keeps with a whole barrage of high explosives at two minutes, 37 seconds of the sixth.

George Kell Leads His Loop at Bat

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—George Kell, Detroit Tiger third sacker, regarded by many as the best hot corner guardian in the game, leads the American League in batting today while Philadelphia's Harry (The Hat) Walker continues to pace the National League in hitting.

Kell tacked eight points to his mark of a week ago to vault from fourth to the top rung with a .335 average, one point more than Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians. Boudreau topped the circuit a week ago with a .341 mark.

Walker lost a point during the span that includes Sunday's games but his .347 average is 20 points higher than runner-up Walker Cooper of the New York Giants. Cooper moved from third to second over Pittsburgh's Frankie Gustine, who tumbled to fourth with .326. Augie Galan of the Reds pulled into third with a .326 mark, one point less than Cooper.

Back of Gustine are Tommy Holmes, Boston, .309; Phil Cavarretta, Chicago, .308; Dixie Walker, Brooklyn, .306; Johnny Mize, New York, and Bob Elliott, Boston, .303, and Enos Slaughter, St. Louis, .302.

Joe DiMaggio, who set the pace for a number of weeks in the American League, brings up third place now with a .326 figure. Trailing the New York Yankee outfielder are Ted Williams, Boston, .323; Luke Appling, Chicago, .316; Barney McCosky, Philadelphia, .314; George McQuinn, New York, .308; Johnny Pesky, Boston, .306; Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, .304, and Tommy Henrich, New York, .301.

24Urges Action Against Our Polluted Waters

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

While pollution is an evil that has long been ruining the fishing in many of our streams, it is also a great menace to health and economy. The subject is a vital one, often discussed at rod and gun clubs or by public officials, but little has been done to maroon this menace in our midst.

From "Bos" Whittier, aviation editor of Hunting and Fishing magazine, we have just been given a first-hand account of a recent aerial survey of the Connecticut river. Piloted by Capt. Harold Gollance, veteran New England flyer, an eight-passenger amphibian, carrying a group of writers and a photographer, soared over the stream, starting at the ocean and continuing to the Vermont line.

"Scores of sources of pollution were spotted and photographed," Mr. Whittier told us. "These included under-water sewage discharge pipes, from which poured light-colored wastes, forming streamers in the river water for a mile or more downstream before blending with the darker hues of the river. Many industrial plants were seen to be discharging raw wastes of many shades, such as oils, dyes, cleaning solutions, and the like."

At the river's mouth, the observers saw just how pollution affects a stream, for the incoming tide was pushing back the river, and a distinct line of scum separated clean salt water from the foul fresh water.

It's little wonder that old-time sportsmen, who recall the days when salmon and other species filled the local waters, shake their heads and shudder today . . . It is high time that real steps were taken to combat pollution in the Bay State; lives, as well as fish, are at stake!

ANGLING ANGLES: "Plenty of striped bass in the Canal—but they aren't hitting," stated Bill Chase, Jr., of Buzzards Bay's Red Top bait shop . . . However, a few hard-working anglers are catching an occasional fish . . . Jack Miller, who often fishes 'round-the-clock, hooked a 13-pounder yesterday morning, near the high tension wires at the big ditch . . . Trying the same spot, John Molluski, Bridgewater, and George Porter and Earl Lee, Groversdale, Ct., took four apiece . . . The stripers are starting to hit plugs in the surf, off Nauset, where the sport has begun to speed up again . . . In New Hampshire, stripers are being caught from Dover Point bridge, which spans the Piscataqua river, one chap taking a 42-pounder there. The river is said to be teeming with squid.

A combination of twilight, popping plugs, and Gay Head, is giving striper fishermen a wonderful opportunity to practice up for the Martha's Vineyard striped bass derby. This week-end the bull bass hit in to the shores and were taken by dozens of twilight fishermen.

Top islanders to beach bass were Al Doyle with 36, 30 and 12 pounders, Manny Lima with a 34 pounder, Arthur Toss with a 34 pounder, Ted Henley a 31 pounder, and Joe Amaral with a 24 and 12 pounder. Others hitting with fish averaging 18 pounds were Ray Bridge 15, Ed Landers 14, Lloyd Mayhew 18, Frank Lopes 25, Tom Williston 16, M. Ruggerio of Cambridge 14, and Jack Christopher 14.

Ed Case casting from his boat at Edgartown opening boated 8 fish to a 26-pound top and the prize story of this week-end is the repeat performance of four-year-old David Marchant who again landed a striper, but this time of 7½ pounds, unaided. Out with his grandfather, Howard Edwards, in a boat at East Chop little David trolling an elskin jig managed to hook and bring in his second striper in ten days. Grandpa is dumfounded and keeps murmuring dazedly, "Dunno how he does it but I've never caught one in my life."

12 New Englanders Among Yanks' Standout Candidates

New England bred or developed grid aces will play a prominent part in the football fortunes of the Boston Yanks during the coming National Football League championship season.

There are twelve New Englanders among the gridmen who reported for the opening Yanks drill at Danvers yesterday and there is one other now in Chicago who will join the club after the All-Stars-Bears classic-Notre Dame's Jim Mello.

The other New Englanders are: Fritz Barzilauskas, Yale guard; Joe Zeno, Holy Cross guard; Ed Fiorentino, Boston College and Brown end; Boley Dancewicz, Notre Dame quarterback, but a Lynn boy; Don Currivan, Boston College end; Johnny Grigas, Holy Cross fullback; Monk Maznicki, Boston College halfback; Rocco Canale, Boston College guard; Joe Sabasteanski, Fordham center, whose home was in Portland, Me., but who now lives in Boston; Johnny Poto, a fullback from East Boston; Rudy Romboli, a fullback from Everett; and Al Sidorik, Mississippi State tackle from Hartford, Ct.

There is little need to say much about Zeno, Dancewicz, Currivan, Grigas or Canale for they are all former All-America greats who proved their worth with the Yanks last year. Maznicki is also well known for he not only sparked Boston College to national grid fame in 1940, but he later played outstanding football with the Chicago Bears and the Iowa Pre-Flight Seahawks.

Needless to say, Barzilauskas, who is a Waterbury, Ct., boy, figures prominently in the Boston Yanks plans this year as either a guard or tackle, while Mello, who comes from West Warwick, R. I., looms as a starter at either fullback or halfback position.

Sabasteanski is a former Fordham captain and a rugged center who needed a year to get organized after a brilliant war record. He spent last season at Long Island. He appears to be ready to prove himself.

Poto and Romboli will never be forgotten locally as high school stars who would have been college standouts had there been no war. They are both powerful and possess speed and talent. They do, however, lack experience and need seasoning.

Sidorik was All-Southern tackle at Mississippi and has an outstanding collegiate record.

The story on Fiorentino is most unusual in that this 6.1 end from Everett is now a medical student at Tufts, but he just wants to prove to himself that he is good enough to play in the toughest football league in the land. At Brown during the war, he was the finest wing in New England. Maybe he'll prove to be that in the National Football League.

But regardless of how Fiorentino fares, there is one thing certain—New England boys will play a very important part in the Yanks organization this year.

Record Crowds Attend Park Loop Play-offs

The Park League opened for its 18th annual playoffs last night before the largest crowds ever to turn out for first games of the opening rounds, according to League Director Bob Cusick, who made a tour of the openers.

Although the defending champion Vets Administration sent the same club onto the South Boston Stadium diamond last night that won the flag in four straight in the '46 finals with Dick Casey Club, the VA went down before the Linehans. Versatile Joe Cunningham, who can play anywhere, hurled for the Linehans, backed by air-tight defense that turned in five double plays. Tom O'Donovan will toss for Linehan in the second of the 3 out of 5 series, tonight at Cleveland Circle, opposed by Lefty O'Toole.

Frankie Catarius, perhaps the oldest player in point of service in the after-supper circuit, led the Dick Casey Club to an 11-5 win over Artesani at Smith Field, with Frankie clouting a homer and two singles. Barney Pallis relieved Toye on the Artesani mound, and tonight at Dorchester Town Field Barney will start on the hill, with Jimmy Maguire, the probable Casey chucking choice. The Giants-Gould Oil series moves through the tunnel to American Legion Park in East Boston where Johnny Powers or Dom Marino, the latter being the former Dodgers' hurler who pitched the Oilers into a playoff berth, attempting to neutralize last night's loss to the Giants at Carter. Honey Green played the fireman's role last night, relieving Joe Beckett, and tonight Honey will make his own start on the rubber.

Dave Campbell, who manages and plays every position at times for Hyde Square V.F.W., lost to West Roxbury last night at Fallon Field, when the league-leaders racked up three quick markers in the opening frame. Billy Connolly's slow-ball pitching turned the trick for the victors and tonight at Jefferson Playground, Billy's Harvard hurling twin, Brendan Reilly will hurl for West Roxbury, with Hyde Square's ace, Jimmy Wilson being relied on to even up the series.

TERRY REARDON TO PILOT PROVIDENCE REDS

Terrence "Terry" Reardon, Boston Bruins right winger and center, has been named playing manager of the Providence Reds in the American Hockey League, Weston W. Adams, president of the Bruins made this announcement today.

General Manager Lou Pieri of the Providence team and Manager Art Ross of the Bruins completed the negotiations which made it possible for Terry to leave the National Hockey League and at 28 years of age become one of the youngest managers in hockey.

Reardon was acquired by the Bruins in 1938 and played for Hershey in the American League for two years. He played one Stanley Cup series game for the Bruins against Rangers in 1940, and was brought up to the Bruins the next season.

He played with Canadiens of Montreal in 1941-42 and part of the next season. He was called into military service in December of 1942 and went overseas as a lieutenant in the Queens Own Cameron Highlanders of Canada. He was shot at Falaise, France, August 16, 1944, and was subsequently sent back to Canada. He came out of the war a decorated captain.

NothingWrong With Musial

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—Just a few months ago baseball fans were asking "what's wrong with the St. Louis Cardinals" and particularly—"what's wrong with Stan Musial?"

But the question no longer applies with the star first baseman nearing a .300 mark in batting.

Stan said today:

"It was just a question of my getting into condition.

"My weight was down during that slump last May after my appendicitis attack but it has improved now and with it my timing is better."

Whatever was lacking, the National League's most valuable player for last year has found the answer, boosting his batting average from a weak .189 on May 29 to .293 today, although he is still far below the .365 with which he led the senior circuit in 1946.

Musial showed his hitting prowess yesterday in the Red Birds' 8 to 1 drubbing of the Chicago Cubs here as he hit safely three times including his eleventh homer of year—just five short of his 1946 number. A double and a single were his other blows, rounding out ten hits in the last four games.

"I'm getting used to the offerings of pitchers by now," Stan said, "and by feeling good each day I can go out there and swing with confidence."

Asked whether the pressure of the current race with the Brooklyn Dodgers was a help to his batting, the first sacker replied:

"The whole team seems to do better under pressure. It's hard to explain, but when we get to the crucial point in a race we all seem to find ourselves at the plate and in the field.

WONDERLAND REVERE

Nearway Real Threat In Mayflower Stakes

By DAVE WILSON

C. C. Tanner's fleet juvenile colt, Nearway is at Suffolk Downs awaiting the bugle call for Saturday's $25,000 Mayflower Stakes. In eight trips to the post, the Ladysman-Gorgeous Lady colt has registered four victories and as many seconds, including a win in the $15,000 Youthful Stakes at Jamaica and runnerup honors to the King Ranch's Better Self in the $25,000 East View Stakes at Belmont Park.

Going into the final week's racing at Suffolk yesterday, the Cuban flash, Fernando Fernandez was showing the way to the jockey colony with 20 victories which was three more than Chris Rogers could muster. Jimmy Humphreys and Eddie Viary were tied for apprentice honors with 10 wins each.

Saratoga ushered in its long-awaited session yesterday which reminds us that Rockingham Park, the Spa of the New England circuit, ushers in its 18-day session next Monday. Post time for the first race at the Rock has been set for 1:30 p. m. . . . Irving Gushen's fleet colt, Andy's Glory, had the clocking fraternity literally goggle-eyed over the week-end when he zoomed six furlongs in a morning workout in 1:12 1-5. The strapping son of Andy K. is a definite starter in Saturday's Mayflower Stakes.

Trainer Howard Hoffman, who recently returned from the Keeneland sales at Lexington, Ky., is very "high" on a couple of the yearlings purchased by Irving Gushen, local leather tanner . . . Jockey Eric Guerin is slated to come on from New York to pilot Nearway in Saturday's Mayflower Handicap . . . There is considerable controversy over who will take the mound when the owners and trainers' soft ball team crosses bats with the jockeys nine on Thursday evening in the Suffolk Downs centerfield. It now develops that the entire owners and trainers squad consists entirely of would-be hurlers.

Charley (Stanetski) Garabedian, the amateur undertaker who serves as betting commissioner in the press stand at Suffolk Downs, insists that he will transport only "live ones" in his hearse to Rockingham Park. From this distance, it looks like only Garabedian and his chauffeur will make the trip . . .

Marty McManus Still Leads Club

DENVER, Aug. 5 (AP)—Marty McManus was out again, in again yesterday as manager of the Denver Bears of the Class A Western League.

President Eddie Nicholson said he had received reports emanating from Omaha, where the Bears took their third straight shellacking last night, that McManus was leaving the club.

Later, he said, he telephoned McManus in Sioux City where the club opened another series last night and McManus said he was not leaving and had no idea how the reports started.

FERRIER TOPS HAAS WITH 68 SCORE

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A cool and efficient Jim Ferrier of Chicago shot a four under par 68 to win the St. Paul open golf title and the $2000 first money in a playoff with Fred Haas Jr., of New Orleans, who shot a 71.

Haas, who got $1400 for second place, and Ferrier were sent into the playoff by finishing the scheduled 72 holes tied at 272 Sunday. At the end of today's round, Ferrier had 340 strokes to 343 for Haas.

Ferrier, playing every shot with virtually the same stance, was never over par while Haas went one stroke over on each of three holes. Ferrier scored birdies on the second, sixth, eleventh and sixteenth for his four under par 68.

Randall Bars 7 Bookmakers

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 (AP)—Seven suspected bookmakers were barred admission yesterday at Randall race track, the Park announced, after the state racing commission complained of widespread illegal betting there.

Belt said bookmaking at Randall was "much worse than we have ever experienced or heard of in Ohio" and declared he understood the practice was continuing during the Thistle Down meeting.

Leahy's All-Stars Seem to Like Heat

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy's College All-Stars don't mind the heat—they don't even have time to notice it.

The Notre Dame mentor has cooked up a routine that keeps the collegians on the go from early morning until late afternoon in preparation for their football battle with the Chicago Bears at Soldier Field in Chicago, Aug. 22.

Besides twice-daily workouts, the All-Stars also are occupied with a two-hour lecture on plays to be used against the Bears.

Despite 100-degree temperature, the 40-odd players who reported at Dyche Stadium for yesterday's first practice had a hectic day of calisthenics and signal drill.

Center Fred Negus of Wisconsin reported with a broken hand sustained in a scrimmage at the Chicago Rockets' camp in Two Rivers, Wis., but the All-Star physician said he probably would be able to play against the Bears.

Perquist Brothers Enter Nantasket Fight Show

The Perquist brothers, Warren and Bob from Milford, were among the first to file entries for the new amateur boxing program to be conducted this Friday night at the Nantasket Hotel, Nantasket, under the direction of the Quincy A. A.

Warren will compete in the 147-pound Class A and Bob will be entered in the 147-pound Class B. Competition will also be staged in all divisions from the 112's to heavyweights.

Armed and Assault Will Meet in Winner-Take-All

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—Armed and Assault will meet in a $100,000 winner-take-all match race at Washington Park within the next 27 days, the exact date being subject to a contest of conditioning between the trainers of the two great thoroughbreds.

Trainer Max Hirsch, thinking over the proposed match for a week, reported yesterday from Saratoga Springs, N. Y., that he was in favor of the race, but that it would take him a little time to prime Assault for the mile and a quarter showdown.

The Washington Park meeting closes on Labor Day, Sept. 1, some four weeks hence.

Owner Warren Wright said last week, when the Washington Park Jockey Club first proposed the match, that his Armed was ready to tackle Assault any time—the sooner the better.

Wright's trainer, Ben Jones, has Armed as sharp as a tack right now. The great handicap star Saturday will run in the Sheridan Mile Handicap at Washington Park, his first start since winning the $50,000 Arlington Handicap.

Hirsch indicated that Assault, second to Stymie as an all-time money winner, needed freshening up after his defeat by Stymie in the Empire City Gold Cup on July 19, but the Pride of King Ranch worked a half mile in the flashy time of :46 4-6 at Saratoga yesterday.

Hirsch ostensibly wants to delay the match until late this month, gradually bringing Assault to a peak while Armed might have trouble keeping razor-sharp.

Wright and Jones would like to get the $100,000 race out of the way well before the $50,000 Washington Park Handicap on Labor Day in which Armed will run.

Armed's Washington Park schedule also calls for an appearance in the $40,000 added Whirlaway Stakes on Wednesday, Aug. 20, which his Calumet Farm bosses might elect to pass if Assault is ready to take him on about then.

Assault, on the other hand, is nominated for the Saratoga Handicap on Aug. 23 and the Saratoga Cup on Aug. 30. Thus both horses probably would have to pass one of their scheduled outings for their private party

Hirsch, in a telephone conversation with Benjamin F. Lindheimer, Washington Park executive director, declared that Assault, who as a four-y e a r-old has collected $623,370, will face Armed "when he is ready, not before."

JOHN E. WARNER SAYS:

"TOO LATE!"

Don't wait until it is too late to help the appearance of your hair as this man did. His case was rejected for treatment, as many others have been, because hair once lost can never be regrown. If your hair is dull, drab or dingy, or your scalp laden with dandruff and itches constantly, you should consult John E. Warner and Associates while you still have hair. A well groomed head of hair is an asset worth keeping.

There is no charge or obligation for a private scalp examination and consultation. Fees for treatment are moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken — not in advance. There are separate departments for men and women.

First Class Tracks Have Helped Midget Car Racing

By JAMES W. BAGLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Since the inception of the Bay State Midget Auto Racing Association almost two years ago tracks continue to be improved.

As a result, today all tracks under the banner of the association have macadam or asphalt covering. The old fashioned dirt track, where the fan was covered with dust and dirt at each turn, has been eliminated.

There is no sign of dissension among the operators of the various tracks. They take the times assigned them.

The Massachusetts tracks take the weekly dates as there is no Sunday racing allowed in the state. Tiverton, R. I., and Londonderry, N. H., take the Sunday dates. In this way there are no two tracks operating at the same time.

There are about 75 drivers and owners registered with the association. Twenty-four drivers are used each racing night. Six races are held and a point system determines the six finalists. The rest of the field is split up into consolation races and no participant leaves without getting something for his efforts during the meet.

The association allows only drivers from the six New England states. Therefore, the drivers from the southern and western part of the country, who have years of experience in midget auto racing cannot come into New England and take advantage of the drivers who have only a few years of experience. However, "guest drivers" are often invited to compete in this area.

At the present time, Bill Schindler of New York city, considered the best midget auto racer in the east, is appearing at the New England tracks. Schindler lost a leg in an accident several years ago.

Bobby Blair of Dedham is the runner up for the New England title of the late Casterline. Close on his heels are Joe Sostillio of Newton, Bill Randall of Reading, Oscar Ridlon of Boston, and Frank Simonetti of Watertown.

All the owners of the cars known as Offenhausers or pepped up Ford V-8's pay between $7500 to $12,000 for their racers.

Tonight, a new $150,000 track opens in Westboro. It is under the direction of five World War II veterans and will be the most modern in the midget racing circuit.

The track is headed by former Capt. Leo Turgeon, Lt. Com. Norman L. McDonald, Sgt. Joseph Hennebry, all former members of the Army Air Forces and served in the European Theater during the war. Roland Turgeon an Army veteran and Richard Trum, who was a lieutenant commander in the Navy and flew a fight plane.

The Westboro track will be the second largest in the New England circuit. It will accommodate approximately 9000 fans. Seekonk, with a 10,000 capacity, is the largest at the present time.

Sudan A. C. Sends 5 Kids to Dilboy Show

Five youthful boxers from the Sudan A. C. of Dorchester have entered tomorrow night's George Dilboy Post, V. F. W., fight program to be staged at Dilboy Field, Somerville.

Entries have been received from Paul Doyle and Jim O'Brien, 126 pounders; John Kefeyan, 147, and Jim Peters and Walt "Red" Ryan, 160. Competition will be in Classes A and B in all divisions from the 112's to heavyweights. Entries may be filed with Fred Russo, 371 Summer st., Somerville.

Champs

Patricia Keating, 9 (left), and Cynthia Simmons, 10, both of North Carver, play with greyhound puppies which have been entrusted to their care by Pat Conway, famed racing owner, in his absence. Conway is leaving for Ireland this week to seek fastest greyhound in that country. He will match it with Flashy Sir at Raynham Park. Meanwhile General Manager Russ Murray is seeking England's top greyhound.

Visits 'Mother'—Elizabeth Scholtes, 21-year-old Dutch girl, looks through the porthole of the SS Westerdam in New York as she arrives from Europe to visit her new "mother" in San Francisco. Elizabeth tended the grave of Cpl. James Currier who was killed near her home. His mother invited the girl to make her home in this country.

Dash

Mrs. Shirley Bellin, Willimantic, Ct., nurse leads the way into Children's Hospital early today as Lawrence Fogg, 23, carries his two-day-old son in a battery-equipped incubator after a 100-mile dash to save the baby's life. The child was born without an esophagus. He was to undergo an operation today. His mother is still a patient in the Connecticut hospital. (Story on Page 3).
